Our collective purpose

Growing out of the emerging trends work that AHC Group has focused on for a number of years, we see an opportunity to explore where and how new innovations can have a major impact on not only the food value chain but also other sectors, such as energy, transportation, mining and forestry, that are dependent on the same resources as the food system.

By bringing together organizations from different sectors to engage in dialogues about current process, new innovations and partnerships, we believe that these connections can generate opportunities for profitable business value to develop.

Inaugural workshop

At the first workshop session in January 2020, we started this dialogue with inputs from:

- David Hayes, Chief Investment Officer & Managing Director (Americas), BP Ventures
- Alan Shaw, President and CEO, Calysta
- Jill Wheeler, Head, Sustainable Productivity, North America, Syngenta
- David Hampton, Co-Founder, ImpactAgri
- Demetri Chriss, Founder, Tuvunu Natural Beverages

Each of these speakers highlighted aspects of the Food/Energy/Land/Water nexus and supported continued workshops that provide a safe space to learn and discuss the challenges and opportunities that the nexus creates.

Sponsorship

We intend to meet twice a year for one or two days each time at a major Sponsor's headquarters for no more than six times. Sponsorship levels include:

- Corporate (> $1b): $15,000
- Corporate (< $1b): $5,000
- Individual expert participant rate per workshop: $995
